CEO Announces Regional Director of Spiritual Care

Eau Claire – Jim Deignan, CEO, announced the recent addition of Nathan Oldenkamp as Regional Director of Spiritual Care. Oldenkamp will administer pastoral care to residents, families and staff at Wissota Health and Regional Vent Center; Rutledge Home; Dove Healthcare – South and West Locations; and Orchard Hills. Through his professional training and certification, Oldenkamp will assist in helping to understand life’s events as they relate to the individuals’ spiritual and emotional well-being.

Oldenkamp was formerly the visitation pastor at Chapel Heights United Methodist Church in Eau Claire and the campus pastor at the University of Wisconsin - Eau Claire. His pastoral and counseling experience extends throughout all four corners of the world. Oldenkamp worked in Ukraine as a minister in a children’s orphanage and served in Eastern Europe as a Christian missionary. He also led the mission project “Putting Love Into Action” in New Jersey and assisted in Minnesota as a youth coordinator.

Oldenkamp attended Dordt College in Sioux Center, Iowa and received a Bachelor of Arts in Business and Missions and Evangelism. He also attended Bethel Seminary and obtained a Master of Divinity. Recently, Nathan completed his Level I and II Clinical Pastoral Education in grief and loss at Luther Midelfort.

“Nathan’s notable past experience, along with his excellent counseling and training skills, set him apart and will be a significant addition to our organization as we continue to advance and grow,” said Deignan.

In response to the announcement of his new venture with the company, Oldenkamp responded, “I am excited for the opportunity to serve as the Regional Director of Spiritual Care. Having met some of the interdisciplinary team, I saw passion for organizational goals as they relate to spirituality. I look forward to serving in a culture which values such initiative.”
